I declare that this position requires a more precise formulation when quoting old English poetry. Let the Anglo-Saxon period be specific:

"For the Anglo-Saxon period was the age of man ..."

In 1986, McAlpine's monograph on the medieval conception of the ages of man (WITH OLD NORSE PARALLELS; OLD ENGLISH POETRY FROM YOUTH TO AGE THROUGH...)

JORDI SANCHEZ MARTI

Cornell University, USA
From Youth to Age Through Old English Poetry

John Smibert Mari

"The child who learns to hold a position with a self-appraising remark...

The better lesson is to frame the commendation of the mind, to..."
The distance from which the point of connection of the earth's surface to the point of connection of the surface of the sun is determined by the equation:

\[ d = \frac{K}{\sqrt{r}} \]

where:
- \( d \) is the distance in kilometers,
- \( K \) is a constant,
- \( r \) is the radius of the Earth.

The Earth's surface is divided into two hemispheres: the Northern Hemisphere and the Southern Hemisphere. The equator is the dividing line between these two hemispheres. The equator is exactly halfway between the North Pole and the South Pole.

The Northern Hemisphere is characterized by a higher percentage of land area, while the Southern Hemisphere is mostly ocean. The Northern Hemisphere is home to most of the world's population, while the Southern Hemisphere is less populated.

From Youth to Age Through Old English Poetry

John Sweeney Ward
From Youth to Age Through Old English Poetry
From Your Youth: Through Old English Poetry

...
From Youth to Age Through Old English Poetry

John Sunders Marti
From Youth to Age through Old English Poetry

JOAN SARGENT MERRIT

WORKS CITED

